Dr. Billingsley has served as a Diplomate for the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology and has made contributions to more than 20 clinical trials in psychiatric disorders including depression and schizophrenia.

WOODLAND RESEARCH NORTHWEST

Woodland Research Northwest in Rogers, Ark. is an inpatient and outpatient research clinic founded in 2008, conducting a mix of Early Phase (I/Ib) and Late Phase (II/III) trials. The site specializes in psychiatric and neurological research, but also conducts trials in a variety of general medical indications.

Northwest Arkansas is one of the fastest growing areas in the country, and it is vastly underserved by the research community. The newly expanded Northwest Arkansas Regional Airport provides patients and visitors alike with over 50 convenient non-stop flights daily to and from 15 destinations including New York, Dallas, Atlanta, Los Angeles and Chicago.

WOODLAND RESEARCH NORTHWEST

FACILITY

Woodland Research Northwest now resides in a purpose-built, 12,000-square-foot, 24-bed research facility. Opened in July 2016, this site is designed for the comfort and safety of all subjects participating in clinical trials. The unit has a full kitchen and game room, including a pool table. The nursing station is located within the unit, allowing the staff to continuously monitor patients outside the acute care ward. Mercy Hospital is only minutes away for full emergency services. The site partners with vendors to provide PET, MRI and CSF sampling capabilities, and utilizes a central IRB for all regulatory submissions. Woodland Research Northwest has a full-time recruitment staff that utilizes well-established recruitment initiatives including community outreach throughout northwest Arkansas and into Oklahoma and Missouri, Internet-based advertising, website, print, radio and TV.
